

Directions for Quick Check Passages

Purpose: Regardless of the language students are learning to read, the ultimate goal is to read fluently and with comprehension. The Quick Check Passages provides teachers with an efficient tool to assess the comprehension of students who are able to readily decode Spanish text.

Overview: The Quick Check Passages are used to assess the reading comprehension of students at the Developing, Transitioning, Stages of Reader Development and short passages to assess students at the Transitioning, Developing Independence and Independent Stages of Reader Development. Using the directions below, teachers should select a passage at the appropriate level for a student to read and have the student answer the comprehension questions. Rate, which is a reliable determining factor of reading proficiency, will also be assessed as the student reads the Quick Check Passage.

How to Begin:

1. Determine the level of passage to give the student by reading the descriptors for each level and find the level that seems to describe your student or use the stage that aligns with the grade level.

First ½ of Third Grade	TR 1	Interactions with Text <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Adjusts reading to process a variety of genres</li> <li>• Uses learning strategies (e.g. context clues)</li> <li>• Understands that chapter books have multiple episodes connected to a single plot</li> </ul> Vocabulary <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Uses context clues and illustrations to determine meaning of words/phrases</li> </ul> Comprehension of Fiction <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Describes how a main character responds to challenges</li> <li>• Describe how the actions of characters contribute to the sequence of events</li> <li>• Beginning to recognize central messages (themes) across texts (e.g. friendship, courage)</li> </ul> Comprehension of Nonfiction <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Brings background knowledge to new reading in order to process and learn new information</li> <li>• Beginning to use features of non-fiction text to aid comprehension (e.g. Interpret information or data from charts and graphs)</li> <li>• Identify main idea and some details</li> <li>• Sequences events of content-based processes</li> </ul>

2. Provide the student with Quick Check Passage at the selected level.
3. Have your student read the passage aloud, starting a timer when the first word is read.
4. As the student reads the text, make notes about the reading behaviors that you observe, including miscues and notes on the student's fluency.
5. Stop the timer when the last word is read.
6. Ask the comprehension questions when the student is done reading the passage.
  - If a student does not respond completely to the question you may provide additional prompts that do not provide the student with any additional information or clues.
  - Possible responses have been provided, but teachers should accept all reasonable answers that are complete and based on the text.
7. When students read at an insufficient rate they are less likely to be able to maintain information gleaned from the text, which affects comprehension. The following table provides the minimum rate of correct words read per minute (WPM) that should be considered sufficient. This table does NOT mean that if a student reads a leveled text at a rate higher than the one listed is the sole reason for moving the student to a higher level of text. The purpose of this guideline is simply to determine the rate which is not sufficient to maintain comprehension of leveled text.

	TR1	TR2	DIR1	DIR2	IR1	IR2

Sufficient Rate	58+ WPM	70+ WPM	78+ WPM	86+ WPM	92+ WPM	96+ WPM
------------------------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------

8. Students may need to read more than one Quick Check Passage to determine the appropriate match of student to leveled text. Adjust the level of text up or down, based on the comprehension and rate. Use the table below to determine the appropriate action.

Comprehension	Sufficient Rate (Y/N)	Appropriate Action
5 points	Y	Assess higher level
5 points	N	May need to assess at a lower level - Refer to the Quick Check Reading Fluency Rubric as an additional consideration to determine if assessment at lower level should be done.
4-5 points	Y	May need to assess at a higher level - Refer to the Quick Check Reading Fluency Rubric as an additional consideration to determine if assessment at higher level should be done.
4-5 points	N	May need to assess at a lower level - Refer to the Quick Check Reading Fluency Rubric as an additional consideration to determine if assessment at lower level should be done.
3-4 points	Y	This is an appropriate initial instructional level. Use the FARC to continue to observe and assess reading behaviors as instruction occurs.
3-4 points	N	May need to assess at a lower level - Refer to the Quick Check Reading Fluency Rubric as an additional consideration to determine if assessment at lower level should be done.
Below 3 points	Y or N	Have the student read a passage at a lower level.
